

Carpenter Foreman & Labourers

Kelvington, Saskatchewan

The difference between a good company and a great company is its people. This concept is important to us at Quorex Construction. It is why we value qualities like co-operation, spirit, determination, and drive. We nurture these qualities and we encourage our people to do their best.

We are a multi-disciplined team of professionals who have been in the construction and development business for more than 30 years. Our team serves every client - large and small - with the same level of dedication and commitment. Our projects encompass the commercial, institutional, multi-family, warehouse and industrial sectors in a region continuing to experience economic growth and prosperity.

Our communication skills and work ethics are the keys to our "teamwork builds quality" approach.

We are looking for an experienced Journeyman carpenter or Labourer with framing experience. Someone who has previously been in the foreman or Labourer position and feel that they are ready to step into one of these roles. You would be assisting the Superintendent on site dealing with site coordination, mentoring carpenters and apprentices, quality control, organizing the daily manpower tasks, daily paperwork, assisting with overseeing the subtrades, stepping in if the superintendent is unavailable and pushing the safety culture. You must be able to work out-of-town, have a valid drivers license, and have a reliable transportation to and from work.

Let's sit down and have a conversation on where your career path could take you with Quorex.

Come join a team where integrity, teamwork, quality and client satisfaction are part of our corporate culture.
